ABILENE.

Its Early History.

When the rush of the forty-niners carried them over the vast desert lands of Kansas, no man in all that army of rushing prospectors dreamed that this country would ever be inhabited by white men. Civilization had stopped at the Missouri river. Beyond that point was a vast desert inhabited by Indians, buffalo and antelope. As years passed on and the mad rush for California ceased, a few of the more conservative frontiersmen, the early empire makers of America, began pushing into this desert land, making their homes along the streams and carving out of the vast plain one of the greatest states of this mighty Union.

In the fall of 1856, T. M. Hersey came west through fields waving in grass, peopled only by nature and the native Indian, until he reached the place where now stands the city of Abilene. There on the west banks of Mud Creek he located his claim. Here was built the first log cabin that was to make a prosperous city.

In the spring of 1857 his family followed him. Slowly during that year a half-dozen families moved into the neighborhood and formed Diekinnson County. The town of Abilene was not laid out until 1860. The original town site was on the land belonging to C. H. Thompson. It comprised only 40 acres on the east side of Mud Creek. This did not include the log cabin of Hersey. In 1861 Abilene, after a hard fight, was made the County seat of Dickinson County.

Among the first to locate in the town was ----Jones, commonly known as "Old Man Jones." He erected a log house which he turned into a store, where among other things that were sold, was whiskey.

One by one settlers kept dropping in and log houses commenced to be quite numerous. Shortly after Jones opened his store, Dr. Moon built a more pretentious one which was known for many years as the Frontier Store. For the next four or five years the town grew slowly. It was only a Frontier Station, a stopping place for the settlers pushing farther west. Then came the Kansas Pacific Railroad in 1866. How quickly the town changed. Lumber was shipped in. The building of log houses ceased and frame stores and dwellings began springing up over the prairie. The town was enlarged. Abilene had its first boom.

About this time Joseph G. McCoy, the pioneer western cattle shipper arrived in Abilene. Mr. McCoy was a man of large means and he had conceived the idea of making Abilene the shipping point for Texas cattle. The Kansas Pacific Railroad was interested. Circulars were printed and distributed all over Texas, setting forth the advantages and benefits drovers would derive from driving their herds to Abilene. Not satisfied with this, advertising agents were sent into Texas and Eastern newspapers were brought into use. Abilene became known all over the United States. Eastern buyers were told of the immense herds of cattle that would be here at a certain time. This gave Abilene a wide notoriety and a great many people flocked here. Anticipating a rich harvest from the drovers, cattlemen and cow-boys, a class of people whose society could well be dispensed with in any community, located in the town. No sooner was Abilene established as a cattle point, than the town was surrounded by a crowd of gamblers, blacklegs and their followers. This class built houses and prepared for their harvest. Up to this time there was no regular hotel and in order to accommodate the crowd of cattlemen, it was necessary that one should be built. To meet this requirement, Mr. McCoy built what was in this time, quite a pretentious hotel and named it the "Drovers' Cottage." He had a hotel but no one would run it. Back to St. Louis went Mr. McCoy and there secured Mr. and Mrs. Gore who came to Abilene to take charge. After running it one year for Mr. McCoy, Colonel Gore purchased the hotel and for the balance of his life gave the traveling public a home that will always be remembered.

Abilene had now embarked on a period of as wild a history as a civilized town ever had. While the business of the town grew and flourished, its morals became worse. From 1867 to 1872, Abilene was an out and out cowboy town. In 1869 Abilene was incorporated into a City of the third class.

In the summer of 1870 Wild Bill (James B. Hickock) came to town. He was a wild fearless gambler and a general bad man but one who was feared by the cow-boys. The following year he was appointed city marshal. He could draw a revolver in less time and fire with surer aim than any man in the west, nor did he stand long on the order of drawing. He thought no more of killing a man than he would a dog. He was afterwards killed by a cow-boy in Deadwood. In 1870 a brick and stone court house was erected at the corner of Second and Broadway. This was the first building other than wood. In 1872 the cattle trade left Abilene and moved west; with it went the gambler and the element that had made Abilene a terror. Then began a steady, healthy growth. The county had filled up, farmers were prosperous and the great desert had become a vast paradise. Brick buildings were built, the town was enlarged and people flocked in from the East. For the next ten years Abilene had no end of prosperity.

January 1882 will be a month long remembered in Abilene. About one o'clock on the morning of the 17th of the month, the court house was discovered to be on fire. "Fire! Fire! Fire!" rang out in the stillness of the night and soon the bells of the city spread the alarm. In a short time the fire was beyond control and the flames leaping the streets consumed nearly two blocks of the best business houses in the town. The loss was over $100,000 besides nearly all of the County records were destroyed. The loss was a severe blow to the town but the people went bravely to work and soon a $30,000 court house was constructed in its present location. In 1901, $20,000 was spent in enlarging and beautifying this building until now Abilene has a $50,000 court house, one of the finest in Central Kansas. The burned district, which contained only frame buildings, was built up with substantial two and three story brick blocks. Thus the spirit which the City has always had, the push that came with the old cow-boy days and has always been in the town, carried it over its first set back.

DICKINSON COUNTY'S COURT HOUSE.

BOOM DAYS.

For the next five years Abilene was on the rising tide of prosperity. Values began to advance. Property was rapidly changing hands, with every change making a leap in price. Then came the Boom with all its wild forgetfulness of the old struggling days. The town and country demanded new railroad facilities. In 1887 $276,000 worth of bonds were voted and the Rock Island built an extension from Herington through Abilene to Salina. The Santa Fe built north from Strong City to Abilene, there branching, the main line going north to Superior, Nebraska, and a branch running to Salina. Now with these railroad facilities, the demand was for manufactories. New additions were laid out, farms became town lots, entire additions were ent up into lots and sold at $100 each, the money being used to give bonuses to new enterprises. The Johns Carriage Factory built an immense plant costing $40,000 and began work with over three hundred hands. A lock factory secured a bonus, also a pottery works and the Sisters of St. Joseph erected one of the finest college buildings in the State. The City Hall which has no equal in towns of four times the size of Abilene was erected at a cost of $20,000.

ABILENE'S CITY HALL.

During all this time the town was wild. A street-car line was built, gas wells bored, the people even held mass meetings to remove the State Capital to Abilene. On this wave of prosperity every man expected to become rich. In 1888 the inflated values began to fall. The farmers had also been intoxicated by these same wild visions. Farms and homes had been mortgaged and the banks had guaranteed the loans. The outcome was failure. Farms were sold under mortgages and values went down. Men who were supposed to be rich awoke to find themselves land and property poor and a mortgage eating the property. The carriage works failed. Later the buildings burned and the addition laid out to raise its bonus became farm land. The pottery works folded its tents in the night and quietly stole away. The lock works failed and of the many enterprises that were fostered by the town, the Sisters of St. Joseph College and the City Hall alone remained as a reminder and a credit to the town's boom days. Shipe's street car mules died and the line was torn up. The town like a spoiled child had had its play. Now came the years of serious work, the reclaiming of wrecked hopes and fortunes and bravely did the people go to work. They awoke serious and sensible.

Ahilene was not alone in this wild dream. It had for company every town and hamlet in the State and the awakening came to all alike. In the years that followed business men grew conservative, careful and with it all, successful. Failure did not daunt. It was an object lesson. It showed the breakers and marked the shoals. As the tide receded the strength of the town was hushed and when low water mark was reached, the town was in good shape. Homes which had been sold under mortgages were purchased by laboring people at low prices. The business men had paid their obligations and taken their losses. The lesson though hard had been well learned.

In 1896 and '97 the tide turned and prosperity with a solid foundation began. Values reached their normal level. Nearly every man owned his own home. Business became better. New enterprises started up, not by bonuses, but on their own merits. Men who had carried over heavy loads of encumbered property began to realize on their investments.

THEN CAME THE FLOOD.

In the latter part of May, 1903, all Kansas was drenched in a deluge of rain. On Monday the 28th, Ahilene experienced one of the worst floods in its history but it was nothing compared with what followed. On Thursday morning, with the ground saturated and water standing in the streets, rain began falling in torrents and for twelve hours the fall averaged one inch per hour. By five o'clock in the evening the water was three feet deep in some of the streets and this was caused only by rain which had fallen in the city. At six o'clock Mud Creek left its banks and by nine o'clock every street was a raging torrent. The water continued to rise rapidly until midnight. Marks on buildings showed the water to have been five feet deep on some sidewalks and in low places the depth was at least ten feet.

At about 10:30 o'clock the three story building at the corner of Third and Cedar and the two story block adjoining collapsed with a crash that was heard even above the roar of rushing waters.

To all this excitement of the flood was added the horror of fire. At 11 o'clock the warehouse in the lumber yard of Rice, Johntz and Nicolay caught fire from water coming in contact with lime and all buildings and lumber were burned to the water. No attempt could be made to extinguish the fire as water from four to five feet deep was rushing around and through the yards. The wind was blowing directly toward the business district and had it not been for the fact that everything was thoroughly soaked, half the city would probably have been destroyed.

ABILENE, KANSAS.

Daylight revealed a sight which could be realized only by being seen. Abilene, one of the most pleasant and well ordered cities in Kansas, presented a picture of wreck and ruin.

The damage to merchants in goods and buildings amounted to over $150,000.

All the railroads had hundreds of feet of track washed out and their road-beds were entirely destroyed.

Today every scene of this calamity has disappeared. Damaged buildings have been rebuilt and the flood is only a memory. Of all the towns and cities in the track of this great flood of 1903, Abilene, though suffering among the worst in proportion to its size, was one of the first to recover.

ABILENE OF TODAY.

Today there is not in the broad state of Kansas a city that can boast of more of those things that go to make up a successful and prosperous city than Abilene. With its broad streets, its beautiful homes, its many industries that furnish to every man who will work an opportunity of sharing in the success of its people, it can truly be called a prosperous city.

Abilene contains more beautiful homes, situated in broad well-kept lawns, than any place of its size in the west. It is one of the sights that impresses the stranger most. From a barren plain without shade to a city that has continuous rows of trees over many miles of brick walks, has only been a step of a few years.

SAND SPRINGS WATER.

In the sand hills four and one-half miles west of Abilene, nature has placed one of the greatest fountains of pure water in the world. Rushing up from unknown depths in immense volumes of pure cold water is Sand Springs. Here is situated the pumping station of the water works system. The water is pumped to Abilene where almost every home in the city is supplied. The supply is far beyond the possible demands. The purity of the water is 99.98 per cent, making it a necessity to the home. In hot summer time it comes from the hydrants, cold, clear and as pure as nature can make it.

SEWERAGE SYSTEM.

During the past year Abilene has built a complete Sanitary Sewerage System at a cost of $15,000. This system will in a short time be extended until the entire city will receive its advantages. The people's health should always be one of the first cares of a city. With its pure water and complete sewerage system and its natural sanitary location, Abilene is almost a health resort.

RAILROADS.

Three railroads enter Abilene. The main line of the Union Pacific, east and west. The Santa Fe, northwest and south east and west to Salina. The Rock Island south to its main line and west to Salina. Twenty-nine regular trains enter and leave the three depots each day, besides many extra freights and stock trains. There is no point in Central Kansas that has the shipping facilities of Abilene.

THE COMMERCIAL CLUB.

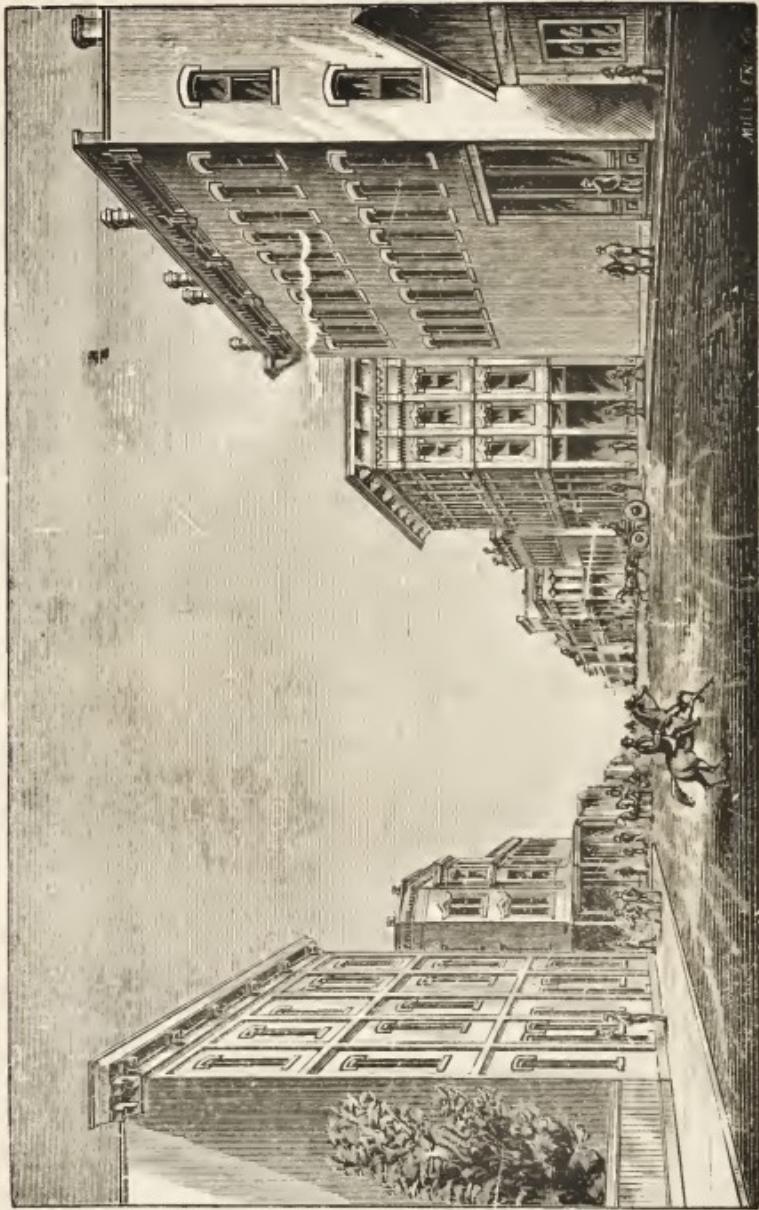

The Abilene Commercial Club is composed of over 100 of the business men of the city. The Club was formed for the purpose of giving assistance and encouragement to any worthy enterprise or proposition that would be a benefit to the business of the city. The success that has always attended any proposition that has been backed by this Club is simply a reflection of the push and energy of the business men of the town. Any enterprise that has merit or stability will always receive the unqualified support of this Club. Its present officers are: G. C. Sterl, president; E. B. Malott, treasurer; C. L. Brown, secretary.

ABILENE PUBLIC LIBRARY.

The Abilene Public Library is upstairs over first room south of Minick & Taylor's, northwest corner of Cedar and Third Streets. The reading room is free to all, and the privileges of the library are open to the entire county. It is a general library, the aim being to have something upon every subject of interest to the community. It now contains 1495 bound volumes, some valuable pamphlets, magazine files for reference, and current periodicals for the reading table. It is hoped to considerably increase the number of volumes during the year. The Dewey Decimal Classification is used.

The library was founded by three ladies' clubs, the Literary League, the Columbian Club and the Twentieth Century Club, which in November, 1901, formed a permanent organization called the Library Association. By means of lectures, book showers, rummage sales and like methods, sufficient books and money were raised by January 17, 1903, to open the Library with about 1,000 volumes. The first location was in the McInerney block, until need for more spacious quarters necessitated a change, December 1, 1903, to the present location. A new ladies' club, the Coterie, was added to the Association, December 1, 1903.

The management is in the hands of an advisory board, consisting of the officers of the Library Association and four additional members, one from each club. The former was elected by the Association, the latter appointed, each by her own club.

The present board consists of:

NEWSPAPERS.

Abilene has two evening dailies, The Abilene Daily Reflector and The Abilene Daily Chronicle; both are bright, newsy papers that have helped to build up the town. There are few papers in Central Kansas that have the support of the merchants as do these.

The Reflector, in addition to its daily, publishes one of the best weekly papers in the State. They have a plant that is complete in every respect.

The Abilene Chronicle also issues an eight-page weekly paper. It has a large circulation and is one of the strong Republican papers of Kansas.

The Dickinson County News, edited by J. W. Howe, is the Democratic organ of this section. It is a paper that is read by nearly every Democrat in Dickinson county and is one of the strongest advertising mediums in this section.

The Democrat, edited by Mrs. M. H. Bishop, is a paper that is welcomed in a majority of the homes of the County. It is Democratic and helps to mold the opinion of that party in Dickinson County.

ABILENE PUBLIC SCHOOLS.

Abilene looks well to the interest of her public school system. With four buildings well equipped and a course of study matriculating with our best colleges, she rightly evinces pride in the educational advancement of her children. The schools were organized under the laws regulating schools of the second class in 1885. Since then the following persons have served as president of the board of education: John Johntz, T. H. Malott, P. J. Stod-

ABILENE'S BUSINESS ENTERPRISES.

To the casual sight-seer, Abilene is not laid out to show to its best advantage. There is no main street as in most Kansas towns, which can be viewed as a panorama; but, like a city that did not intend to stop with its one street, she covers block after block with some of the finest business houses to be found in the West. To the stranger it seems that every corner that is passed brings another street lined with business blocks.

Today Abilene contains over 250 business firms and enterprises. On every hand are signs of prosperity and success.

ABILENE'S BIG CREAMERY.

One of the institutions of which Abilene is justly proud is the Belle Springs Creamery Company. Few people realize how large and helpful an organization this is. The people have become so accustomed to seeing the shipments of butter and the wagon loads of cream that the existence of this institution with its 41 stations, its daily receipts of 115,000 pounds of milk and its 2,000 patrons, is taken as a matter of course. The erection of its splendid central station in Abilene during the past year has served to make it more widely known and more generally recognized. It is today the largest exclusive creamery institution in the West. It has the merits of manufacturing only creamery butter, and possesses the distinction of making some of the best butter found anywhere in the world. The "Belle Springs" brand, which has been known for 17 years, has a name throughout the West and South that is a guarantee of excellence and insures a higher price than many of the others are able to obtain.

The Belle Springs Creamery Company started in a modest way at Belle Springs, 12 miles southeast of Abilene in 1886. J. E. Nissley was its manager. In 1904 it was incorporated.

Later its headquarters were moved to Abilene, and its business expanded beyond the borders of the county until now it has 41 stations, reaching into several counties of central Kansas. The officers are now: J. K. Forney, president; P. G. Hoffman, vice president; M. L. Hoffman, treasurer; E. H. Forney, secretary.

The new building, constructed especially for creamery and cold storage purposes, is unexcelled in the nation as the headquarters of a creamery company. It is 70x176 feet in dimensions, and has the largest capacity in proportion to its equipment of any creamery structure in the West. This is because it was built from basement to roof with the one idea of making it a perfect creamery headquarters. It has three churns, three engines and a capacity of over 20,000 pounds of butter. Its ice-making capacity is 15 tons daily and it furnishes all the ice for the city of Abilene. The cold storage space is being arranged for poultry and meats in addition to the butter and egg storage now completed.

It was built entirely by day labor and "on honor" regardless of expense, and never was $50,000 spent with more satisfactory results for the plant is recognized by creamery men everywhere as a model.

It numbers among its patrons over 2,000 prosperous farmers. The milk receipts amount to 40,000,000 lbs. of milk a year, for which the farmers receive $300,000.

THE A. B. SEELYE MEDICINE COMPANY.

When business ability, push and merit are back of enterprise, success is always the reward. Fourteen years ago Dr. A. B. Seelye and his father located in Abilene and began in a modest way the manufacturing of their products; they were their own chemists, their own salesmen. Their laboratory was but one room. From this small beginning has grown one of the largest proprietary medicine companies in the West. As the business increased, their facilities were enlarged. Wagons were started on the road selling their products. Success greeted them on every hand. As the merits of their medicines became known, the demand compelled them to extend their business to a still larger scale. In 1900 Dr. A. B. Seelye purchased what was then known as the Bonebrake block. The ground floor of this block was divided into a number of store rooms; the second floor was the old Opera House. The opera house had become an eye sore to the town. Dr. Seelye at once began remodeling the block. He did not spare expense and the result was that Abilene today has one of the finest, best equipped and most beautiful theatres in the West. It was made a ground floor house, with a seating capacity of 800. A balcony, four boxes and a stage that is large enough to accommodate city attractions, large commodious dressing rooms and every thing that could go to make a beautiful amusement home. The decorations of the house are in old ivory, green and gold, making one of the most beautiful and artistic theatres to be seen anywhere. It is one of the sights that the people of Abilene never tire of showing to their friends.

The remainder of the building was equipped as a laboratory and offices for the Seelye Medicine Company. In the east end of the building are the offices, large airy rooms, arranged with every convenience and comfort for the transaction of business. Back of the office is the laboratory, and the same personal attention is given to the preparation of their products now as was when the company first began its small business. In the basement are the bottling rooms, packing and shipping rooms.

It is but a few years since this company had one salesman. Today they have 40 wagons in the State of Kansas, traveling from house to house, delivering their products to every home. Scattered all over the central and northern part of the United States are a half hundred or more agents. Their products are to be found in every drug store and supply house in the West. From a small beginning, this company has grown until today they ship over six million packages of goods annually amounting to over $200,000.

Their principal products are Seelye's Wasa-Tusa; Seelye's Ner-Vena; Seelye's Magic Cough Cure; liniments, condition powders, ointments and extracts of all kinds. Few men achieve singly the success which Dr. A. B. Seelye has achieved in these few years. And Abilene today points with pride to this man and this institution.

ANN ARBOR, Mich., March 20, 1903.
The Abilene Company,
Abilene, Kansas.

GENTLEMEN:—The five cases of Abilene water we ordered first, I am pleased to say, jumped to the front as no other water has here in Ann Arbor. When such men as Drs. Prescott, Vaughn, Dorling, Audman, and about five or six others of our best physicians prescribe it, you have something that will be a seller. These men are using Abilene, and stand in the profession as authority on such things.

Yours very respectfully,
THE GOODYEAR DRUG CO.

THE ABILENA COMPANY.

One of the largest and most successful business enterprises in Abilene is The AbilenA Company. This company is incorporated under the laws of Delaware with a paid capital stock of $250,000. Its present officers and directors are: Dr. Frank M. Gier, president; P. H. Halleck, vice president; H. E. Ellison, secretary and treasurer; R. M. White and Gardiner W. Kimball, directors.

The history of this mineral water, which was named in honor of the town, is interesting. Out on a mid-Kansas prairie the Travelers' Insurance Company took a quarter section of land under a foreclosed mortgage.

Nature had provided no living streams on this farm and the tenant needed water for his stock, therefore a well was a necessity and one was driven down to water over 100 feet through solid rock. The water thus seeped affected the cattle peculiarly, acting as a strong cathartic; people became interested. The water was sent to prominent chemists for analysis. This analysis showed that AbilenA was one of the purest cathartic waters in the world and the only American Natural Cathartic Water.

The wells are located on a hill which slopes gently in every direction and away out on this Kansas prairie, practically removed from every human habitation, there has never been the slightest possible chance of contamination or pollution. There is nothing picturesque in the location, yet in the depths of this hill nature has, in her own laboratory, combined in an unknown way these elemental substances and produced a remedy so simple and yet so potent, so harmless and yet so thoroughly effective that it has proven itself one of the most remarkable mineral waters in the world.

In 1890 the present company acquired the wells. They have erected in Abilene a commodious and practical plant 50x175, thoroughly equipped to care for their business. There is no firm or business in Abilene that has so thoroughly advertised the town as the AbilenA Company. In every part of the United States where the water has been introduced, it has met with the strongest approval of the people as well as every practicing physician. The business has grown to such an extent that the shipments are almost all made in car-load lots. The success that this company will undoubtedly make can only be measured by the success of foreign mineral waters which do not have the merits of AbilenA.

The following signed by the physicians and surgeons of Abilene, Kansas, is certainly sufficient recommendation to the home people that it is a remedy that can safely be used and should be in every home.

"We the undersigned physicians and surgeons of Abilene, Kansas, having been using AbilenA, "The only American Natural Cathartic Water," since its first introduction some two years ago. We wish to speak in highest praise of the water as a laxative and cathartic, as exceeding any and all the foreign waters we have ever used, and earnestly commend its use to the American profession and public.

We are personally acquainted with the gentlemen composing The AbilenA Company and we know them to be honorable, honest and courteous gentlemen. We are familiar with the wells and their surroundings and know that the water is truly a natural water and every precaution is taken to maintain perfect sanitary conditions. We have frequently visited the bottling works which are located in our city and know that strict sanitary regulations are observed in every department of their work."

THE BROWN TELEPHONE COMPANY.

A complete telephone system is a necessity and a luxury that is appreciated by the people of Abilene. The success that has attended the Brown Telephone Company from the beginning in 1890, when the city granted it a franchise, to the present time, is the reward that comes to any business that devotes its utmost energy to the satisfying and pleasing of its customers.

Previous to the construction of this company's line, Abilene was at the mercy of the Missouri & Kansas Telephone Company. The rates were so exorbitantly high that few people could avail themselves of the use of the telephone. The Brown Company constructed a plant with the best equipments, switchboards and other equipments that money could buy. From the start they received the unanimous support of the people. In 1902 the Company was incorporated with a capital stock of $50,000. The equipment has been greatly improved. Over 12 miles of lead cable has been put in, thus insuring a perfect service at all times and in all conditions of weather.

Today there are in use in the city over 400 'phones. There is, in the county, over 200 miles of toll lines, connecting every postoffice, and many of the farm homes with the homes and business houses of Abilene. There are altogether over 1,100 phones in the county owned and controlled by this company. The support that the people of Abilene and Dickinson County have given the Brown Telephone Company only shows the appreciation of the perfect services that the company has given in return.

THE UNION TELEPHONE & TELEGRAPH COMPANY.

To form a long distance connection for the local telephone company the Union Telephone & Telegraph Company was incorporated in 1903. This company has just completed a long distance copper service of six wires that connect every town in Central Kansas, from Topeka west to Stockton, from Hebron and Beatrice, Nebraska, south to Wichita, Kansas. The equipment is of the very best and the benefits that this service will be to Central Kansas cannot be measured.

ELECTRIC LIGHT COMPANY.

Abilene has one of the most complete electric light systems in Central Kansas. The plant was built in 1898 by Jacob Brown & Son. It is situated on the banks of the Smoky Hill river, two and one-half miles south of the city, where they have the benefit of very fine water power. They also have a 250-horsepower engine. By having both water and steam power, Abilene is always insured a perfect light system. The equipment is one of the finest obtainable. It has an alternating current and a monoelectric generator. At the present time there are over 3,000 incandescent and 25 arc lights in use in the city.

Abilene will always appreciate the advancement which Jacob Brown and C. L. Brown have given the town.

THE CO-OPERATIVE BURIAL COMPANY.

The Co-operative Burial Company of this city is one of the business concerns which has grown from a small beginning to one of the largest insurance companies in the State. This company was started in October, 1902, by George S. Upshaw, as a local proposition. The plan met with success from the start. On January 1, 1903, a company was formed and incorporated under the laws of the State of Kansas. On February 13th a special law was passed placing this company under the supervision of the State Insurance Department. This put the company on a sound business basis. On January 1, 1903, there were 413 members of the local company, with $40,000 insurance in force. On January 1, 1904, there were 1223 members in the local company with over $115,000 insurance in force. During the year of 1903 thirty-three local companies were started in the State of Kansas. In 1903 there have been over 10,000 policies written amounting to nearly one million dollars insurance. Considering the size of the policy that is a record that has never been equaled by any insurance companies in the United States.

The plan of the company is very simple, yet it covers a field that has never been reached by any other plan. It is a combination of fraternal and industrial insurance. The company accepts for membership any person in good health between the ages of one and 70 years. From one to ten years, it costs six cents advanced assessment and five cents certificate fee. This entitles a member to a $50 policy. From 10 to 70 years, it costs eleven cents advanced assessment and five cents certificate fee. This entitles a member to a $100 policy. The assessments are levied only when there is a death in the local company. While all the companies are under the supervision of the general office at Abilene, each company operates independent of the others in regard to assessments. If a member under 10 years old dies, each member of the local company is assessed not to exceed six cents. If a member over ten years old dies, each member of the local company is assessed not to exceed 11 cents. As the membership increases, the assessment decreases,

ABILENE MILLING CO.,
ABILENE, KANSAS.

From the time that T. C. Henry planted his immense wheat fields in the valley of the Smoky, until the present time, one of the greatest products of this county has been wheat. The Kansas hard wheat is of the finest quality in the world and is especially adapted to the making of high grade flour. Abilene contains two of the best mills in Central Kansas.

THE ABILENE MILLING COMPANY.

The Abilene Milling Company, with one exception the largest mill in Dickinson County, was built in the summer and fall of 1902. It contains the most complete equipment of modern machinery that money can purchase. This mill has a capacity of 500 barrels daily and from its beginning has been forced to run night and day the year round to supply the demand. This company also controls the output of the Grand Island Roller Mills of Grand Island, Nebraska. This mill also has a capacity of 500 barrels daily, thus giving the Abilene Milling Company an output of 1,000 barrels daily.

Their leading brands of flour are Imperial and Leader, which find a ready sale in twenty different states and territories and which give the best of satisfaction.

THE SECURITY MILLING COMPANY.

This is the oldest mill in Abilene. It was built in 1881 by Rice & Johntz and for the past twenty years has run night and day to supply the demand for their flour.

In April, 1901, the property was purchased from Johntz Bros., by the Security Milling Company. At the present time this mill is being entirely remodeled and the latest improvements in milling machinery are being added. With its new improvements, it will have a capacity of 500 barrels daily, and its principal brands, Havasak and Crown Patent, are sold in all the principal markets of this country and have a ready export sale in Glasgow, Liverpool and Rotterdam.

Subscribers on party lines must not use their telephones more than five minutes at a time, as others on line might want to use their phone.

Instructions for Use of Rural Line Telephones

1. Always call central offices and ask for the number wanted even if party is on your own line.
2. To call central office give the bell crank one sharp turn and then place the telephone to your ear. The operator will answer "What Number?" When the operator repeats the number, if party wanted is on the same line as yourself, hang up your telephone until operator rings party wanted.
3. Always listen on the line before ringing. If line is in use hang up your receiver and wait five minutes. Then try again.
4. Never, UNDER ANY CIRCUMSTANCES, take down your receiver when bell rings some other signal than your own. Subscribers are not allowed to listen on the line when other parties are talking. The management reserves the right to cancel any contract at any time for violation of this rule.
5. Do not hold the line more than five minutes at any one time. Remember other folks have equal rights as yourself.
6. Death messages and calls for doctors take precedence over all other business.
7. Singing or the playing of musical instruments over lines will not be permitted.
8. Operators are required to be courteous in all their dealings with subscribers, but are not allowed to hold conversations with them beyond what is necessary in answering calls.

THIS Company, which is composed of the owners of fifteen of the exchanges in Central Kansas, have under construction a new trunk Toll Line extending from Topeka to Abilene, Kansas.

This line will be ready for operation March 1, 1904.

At Topeka, Kansas, this line connects with the toll lines of the Western Independent Telephone Company extending to Kansas City, Missouri, and eastern points.

Through copper metallic circuits will be maintained from Abilene to Kansas City with absolutely no intermediate stations cut in on the line. In this manner we expect to give the best possible service.

From Abilene there will extend full No. 10 copper metallic circuits in every direction, reaching the following cities: Minneapolis, Beloit, Concordia, Salina, Clay Center, Marion, Herington, Newton, Hutchinson, and in fact all the principal points in central and northern Kansas.

No expense has been spared to make this line thoroughly first-class in every respect.
